NATIVE VEGETATION CLEARING

1 . Would a strategic approach to clearing, through a strategic purpose permit, benefit you?

Response: no
Comments:

2. Is the 'purpose component' reasonable to apply considering the added complexity of assessing this type of clearing permit?

Response: yes
Comments:

3. Is the proposed fee structure fair and does it adequately reflect differences in the financial capacity of clearing permit applicants?

Response: no
Comments:

4. What is the likely impact on your business or industry of the proposed clearing fee structure?

Comments:
Added expenses bogged down in red tape make it practical and simple *5.

6. Do you consider it reasonable for taxpayers to pay 100 per cent of the cost of assessing water licence and permit applications and if so, why?

Response: yes

Comments:

Price you pay for Fresh produce at a good price it will only push prices up to consumers 7. If water licence and permit assessment fees were introduced, what do you consider to be an appropriate fee for a water licence or permit application?

Comments:

The costs of water lic permits are a joke they should be looking into why the costs are so high to start with every water lic and business are different, small businesses won't be able to handle these costs into their business making them not viable 8. Would you consider a risk-based model for determining water licence and permit application fees to be appropriate? If not, what basis could the department use to structure fees?

Response: no

Comments:

9. What would be the likely impact on your business or industry if water licence and permit fees were introduced?

Comments:

It would make most small business unviable farms work on a high cost low margin, slow cash flow business if government aren't going to support farmers they will go out of business and food cost will go up its a no brainer 10. If water licence and permit assessment fees were introduced, how could the collection of fees be timed to better support your business or industry? For example, would you benefit from paying fees up front, at the end of a licence assessment or annualised over the term of the licence?

Response: unsure
